SYLLABUS

TITLE:	Introduction to Literature
CODE:	ECT 105
PREREQUISITE	N/A
CREDITS:	3 credits   45 contact hours   1 term

DESCRIPTION

This course revolves around three questions: What is literature? Why is literature written? Why and how is literature read? From a panoramic examination of literary theory and criticism, the student is promoted to develop critical skills of analysis and interpretation through the application of theories and criticisms studied to a selection of assigned literary texts. This course also defines core concepts for literary study, such as literary genres, poetics, aesthetics, stylistics, narratology, discourse analysis, among others.

JUSTIFICATION

The practical exercise of creative writing, in order to be carried out in a conscious and productive way, requires a theoretical foundation on the essential themes of Literature as a discipline. For this reason, the BA in Creative Writing' curriculum proposes to begin the path of training as a writer with a course that leads to reflection in both the classic and contemporary areas of literary debate.

COMPETENCES

The course develops the following competences in students:

- Communication
- Critical questioning
- Research and exploration

OBJECTIVES

After completion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Explain the concepts of literature, aesthetics, poetics, stylistics, literary genre, literary generation, and canon.

2. Compare major contemporary theories of literary analysis.
3. Deconstruct theoretical assumptions regarding national representation, identity construction, canonical studies in literature and literary genres.
4. Produce literary criticism writings through informed text analysis.
